"Women clad in aprons have traditionally prepared the Thanksgiving meal, and it is within our historical linkage to share our bounty."

2nd Tie One On Day Winner Wednesday

... is tomorrow! Sponsors Craftsy, National Association of Baby Boomer Women, IceMilk Aprons, MikWright, Nancy Zieman, Simplicity and My Memories are offering fabulous products as a thank you to one Tie One On Day entrant for participating and inspiring others to become involved.

Last week's Wednesday Winner, Cyndi Swank, was thrilled of her selection, which she hopes is also a good luck sign for her brother-in-law, who was seriously injured in a car accident.

"Wow, this is so incredible! This win is coming out of left field, and is really a wonderful surprise for me. At last, something really good is happening!"

And Linda, Jane, Patty and Debra, the four additional My Memories Digital Software recipients, are happy with their surprise winning.

If you're like me and always looking for apron inspiration, sponsor Bernina is showcasing apron designs on its sewital blog, which include this log cabin patchwork apron designed by my friend Erika Mulveena.

After skyping for a year with retro rad chef Emily Elyn, our paths finally crossed while I was visiting my sister in Florida.

Two peas in a vintage pod!

We created a video for Tie One On Day packaging, which you can watch HERE

Thanksgiving is a holiday known for recollection, making new traditions and sharing. The apron symbolizes these concepts. So please join me and tie one on (an apron, of course!) and through National Tie One On Day, make a difference in someone's life.

Question: What's leftover pie?

Answer: The next day's breakfast!
